What We Provide

1-on-1 Consultations & Personalized Growth Plans

- Discuss lesson plan ideas
- Receive real, meaningful feedback on lesson plans
- Discuss teaching strategies & TEFL theories
- Learn how to use teaching software & classroom technology

Workshops

- Experience new activities to implement in your classes
- Try out new teaching methods before using them with your students
- Free to attend

Observations & Feedback

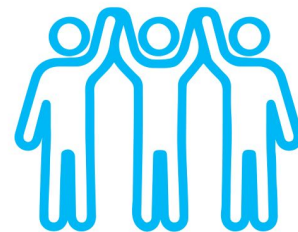

- Get another perspective on your lessons
- Designed around your concerns and interests
- For your personal development only; not connected to employer KPIs

We are here as a resource for you!

1) Our job is to support you as a teacher

2) Observations are designed for reflection, not for judgement or supervision

3) Our consultations are a free resource – we are a partner program to the university, not supervisors

2026-27 Workshop Menu

1. Is anybody listening?

Checking for understanding in an engaging way

2. Interactive classroom activities: Student learning through doing

3. Partners in planning: Using AI to enhance, not replace, lesson plans

4. Do you really want to talk for two hours straight?:

Balancing teacher talking time with student talking time

5. All work and all play: Educational technology to fire up your lessons

6. How to teach more vocabulary without really trying:

Working with “emergent language”

Workshops will be finalized and dates announced by the Bilingual Center
